

Construction Of Carr Fork Dam Slated To Begin This Summer

District Army Engineers Tuesday night told a crowd of over 1,000 people in a jammed Carr Creek Elementary School at Cody that construction of the Carr Fork Dam will begin early this summer, with an estimated completion date of December, 1967.

In a briefing illustrated by color slides, Army Major Morris L. Gardner, Deputy Engineer for the Louisville District, told the Knott Countians that acquisition of their property will begin this summer, once pre-construction plans are complete and the Corps of Engineers is ready to move dirt.

According to studies already completed, Maj. Gardner said that 600 tracts of land totaling about 1,800 acres will be purchased to make way for the new reservoir.

The reservoir will cause the displacement of 275 families, 3 schools, 6 churches, 8 cemeteries, 30 commercial units and various utilities and roadways, Maj. Gardner said.

The dam will be located about two miles from Sassafras, a short distance south of the Little Dove Church and cemetery on Cornett Hill. It is expected to provide a permanent pool of water backed up some seven miles behind the dam.

The dam itself will be 130 feet high and 720 feet across, of earth and rock fill, with an elevation of 1080 feet above sea level, Maj. Gardner said.

Maj. Gardner said the Corps of Engineers considered flood control the primary reason for the reservoir, though other reasons such as fish and wildlife conservation, water quality and public recreation were also important.

He said that studies indicate that as many as 188,000 visitors a year for recreational purposes can be expected at Carr Fork, and added that last year the Rough River Reservoir attracted a total of 700,000 people seeking recreation.

In explaining how the Corps of Engineers purchases private property, Maj. Gardner said that prices are generally determined by the property's "fair market value," or what a willing buyer would pay to a willing seller.

Factors that help determine the fair market value include recent sales of comparable land, the lay of the ground and its productivity, and the presence of buildings, trees, pasture, and crops.

Maj. Gardner said it was Corps policy to allow the property owner to stay on his land as long as possible, as long as it did not interfere with the dam construction project. Property will be purchased from the dam, upstream.

Over 90 per cent of such land transactions are by mutual agreement between the owner and the government, Maj. Gardner said. When price agreement cannot be reached, the government acquires the property through condemnation, based on the Constitutional provision giving government powers of eminent domain over private property needed for the public good.

But the individual has rights too, Maj. Gardner reminded the audience. When the property owner is not satisfied with the government's offer, he can ask the court to resolve the matter.

The hearing was presided over by Colonel Willard Roper, District Engineer, who accepted questions from the audience after Maj. Gardner's hour-long briefing.

Most of the questions came from individuals wanting to know how far the water would come up particular creeks and tributaries of Carr Fork.

Armed with maps, a panel of specialists was able to immediately identify such places as Trace Fork, Little Carr, Dead Man Branch, and Pine Top, and give a good estimate of the eventual water line.

Asked if the Corps of Engineers assumed any responsibility for relocating individual families, Col. Roper explained that families were compensated in cash for the expenses of moving, but that the Corps did not actually move any one.

Col. Roper announced the establishment of a real estate project office in Hindman sometime this spring where information regarding the reservoir will be available.

The crowd was perhaps the largest one ever to assemble in the gymnasium auditorium of the Carr Creek School, which will eventually be torn down to make way for the rising waters of an impounded Carr Fork.

Automobiles lined both sides of the highway for about a mile in either direction from the school building.

Coal Production Below Last Year

Coal production in the Hazard Field amounted to 128,410 tons during the week ended February 6, 1965, bringing the total for the year to date to 755,400 tons.

In announcing the figures, the Hazard Coal Operators Association said the week's production was 0.17 per cent below the 128,630 tons mined during the corresponding week last year. Production for the year to date indicates a decrease of 14.79 per cent under the 886,500 tons at the same date last year.

Tonnages are computed on a 50-ton-per-car basis and are subject to adjustment.

Hazard Group Attends Highway Meeting in W. Va.

Twenty-eight Hazard men were among a delegation of Eastern Kentucky civic leaders who met today in Charleston to hear West Virginia's highway commissioner discuss his state's booming highway program.

Commissioner Burl A. Sawyer told sixty-six Kentuckians that Interstate 64, a new four lane highway, will be completed between Charleston and the Kentucky line near Catlettsburg by the end of 1965.

In outlining West Virginia's massive road construction program, Sawyer gave credit to the state's recently passed two million dollar road bond issue for the bright future of West Virginia's highways.

Sawyer said West Virginia voters approved the bond issue by a 4 to 1 majority and added that such popular support was gained primarily because the bond sales will be spread over a ten year period.

He recommended this particular feature of West Virginia's road bond program to Kentucky, which plans to seek voter approval of its own road bond issue at the polls next November.

Hazard's delegation was led by Mr. Dewey Daniel, who, in brief remarks to the luncheon gathering, emphasized the need for an improved Highway 80 as a modern link between West Virginia and Western Kentucky.

The Hazard group left town early today and is expected back tonight.

John Noble Speaks At Methodist Church

A large crowd was present to hear Mr. John Noble speak on "Communism" at the Bowman Memorial Methodist Church Tuesday evening.

Mr. Noble was a prisoner of the Communists in East Germany and Soviet Russia for 10 years during the reign of Hitler. During this time, he was forced to load seventeen tons of coal a day. His meals consisted of cabbage soup and cereal. He recalls that no time during this period did he weigh over 100 pounds.

While a prisoner, Mr. Noble was allowed to write a limited number of post cards to his family. One post card to his uncle was signed "Your NOBLE Nephew". Realizing that his nephew was alive, the uncle went to Washington to check the records and found where Mr. Noble was in prison. He appealed to President Eisenhower who interceded with Stalin to secure Mr. Noble's release. When he (Mr. Noble) first sighted the American flag and realized that he was finally free, he was hysterical with joy.

In his lecture, Mr. Noble stressed that to avoid Communism, we should get people to work, provide means for it, and to stop giving them everything free. "We (America) are not poverty stricken compared to the communists countries," he said, "the Soviet Union is one big prison house. Everything the communists produce is through slave labor." In closing Mr. Noble said,

Beautician Dies At Broadway Apt

A local beautician was found dead in her Broadway apartment about 1:30 this morning according to Hazard City Police.

Jeanette McDowell, 24, died about 12:30 a. m. of an apparent heart attack.

Maxine Riddle, a friend of the deceased, reportedly found the body and called police headquarters around 1:30 a. m.

Mr. French Evans, owner of the Beauty Shop where Miss McDowell was employed, stated in an interview this morning that she (Miss McDowell) had been an employee of the Main Street firm for 2 years.

Evans reported that she worked her normal shift yesterday and took regular appointments.

Miss McDowell was the daughter of Frank McDowell of Delphia.

The body was taken to Bra-shear Funeral Home. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Luttrell Files For Magistrate

Mr. Sam A. Luttrell, a democrat from Hazard, has announced his candidacy for the office of Magistrate, District 4, in the primary election, May 25, 1965.

Mr. Luttrell ran for the same office in the primary four years ago and lost by a small vote, running second in a four man race. He won in the primary race for City Commissioner two years ago, but lost in the final election.

Luttrell believes after two near successful races that the third time is "charmed".

GUEST EDITORIAL

The New Appalachian Bill

(Reprint from The Courier-Journal)

We favor passage of the Appalachian Re-covery Bill just approved by the Senate, and hope that it will be quickly enacted into law. But there are a few things about the bill that should be made clear. We are for it not because it is an ideal bill, or even a very good bill, but because it offers some help for our depressed mountain region, and in this historically neglected region, any help is better than no help.

At the same time, we see a danger for Appalachia in this bill. A lot of people, in and out of Congress, seem to expect this measure to cure the ills of Appalachia. It won't be big enough, broad enough or financially strong enough. And when it doesn't, a lot of people are going to take its failure as proof that federal programs are of no help to Appalachia. That would be a tragedy for Appalachia. A bucket of water on a burning house won't put out the fire, but this doesn't mean that more water would be wasted.

And the weakest aspect of the Appalachian bill is that it spreads too little money over too big an area. A billion and seventy-seven million dollars is quite a bit of money, and if it were spent within a year it might produce marked improvement, even when spread over the hundreds of counties lying within the 11-state region. But when spread over a five-year period it averages about nineteen and a half million dollars per state. That much could be swallowed up in Eastern Kentucky without more than denting the backlog of need for such costly items as dams, watershed reforestation and four-lane highways.

Limited Self-Help Ability

For example, the bill authorizes construction of 3,350 miles of "developmental highway" system, of which 1,000 miles shall be access roads. Eastern Kentucky alone could use 1,000 miles of access roads and still not have enough hard-surface roads to reach all of its children with school buses, enabling the state to abandon its one-room schools in favor of consolidated schools. Apparently the state will get about 250 miles of major roads, which it can well use. But if the bill requires, as it seems to do, the same criteria now in effect for federal-aid primary roads, Eastern Kentucky will continue to be stuck with the two-lane roads it has rather than the four-lane highways it needs.

We concur in the philosophy implicit in this bill that states should participate in their own economic salvation, but our self-help ability is limited. Like other less-wealthy states, we have to run hard just to keep up, and if our over-stretched budget is forced to provide matching funds for Appalachian programs, it will do so at the expense of state programs, thus defeating the whole purpose of the bill. Congress can justify 9 to 1 matching as easily to end a region's isolation as it justified 9 to 1 matching on Interstate highways to provide a better defense network. And that's just what it will have to do if it hopes to build any truly adequate highways in Kentucky's Appalachian counties.

A Difficult Requirement

Furthermore, the bill as now written requires participating states to put up 30 dollars of road money for every 70 dollars of federal money. This merely continues inequities that the bill was designed to overcome. It is a break for rich states and a blow at the poor. It means that states that have shall be given unto and that those that have not shall have a hard time getting. Already states like Kentucky are having a hard time finding highway money to match both the regular and Interstate programs. If we are required to put up 30 percent of the cost, it is doubtful that we could afford the four lane, high-speed, limited-access modern highways we need for Eastern Kentucky, even if we could get them under this bill.

And it should be remembered that the highway program is not only the heart but the major portion of this bill, consuming $840,000,000 of the $1,077,000,000 proposed for the entire measure. The remaining $237,000,000, spread over 11 states for five years, could not more than scratch the need for other major construction, such as flood control dams. And there is nothing in the bill, which calls for yet another river study by the Army Engineers, to hint at an easing of the criteria that have for so long prevented Eastern Kentucky from obtaining flood relief. Neither are there adequate funds for smaller impoundments to provide municipal water supplies, or to install water and sewage systems in Appalachian communities that need them.

The Stripped Land Provision

The bill provides limited funds for reclamation of strip-mined land, but specifies that only public lands shall be reclaimed, whereas most stripped land, in Kentucky at least, is privately owned or "abandoned" and of uncertain ownership. The bill provides some money for reforestation, whereas a truly massive effort is needed to reclaim and replant all of the cutover, stripped and eroded uplands that add to the flood potential of the mountains.

The bill provides funds for areas of "the greatest potential for future growth . . . where the return on public dollars will be greatest." If Congress is looking for a chance to turn a fast buck, it had better look elsewhere than Appalachia, where the opportunity for quick profit is far less than the opportunity for long-range rehabilitation. But if Congress is sincerely concerned with helping an underdeveloped region back to economic health, the House had better put more muscle in the Appalachian Bill. This one doesn't have enough.

OUR READERS WRITE

Writer Praises Gov. Breathitt

The Editor

Dear Sir:

Harry Lee Waterfield has attacked the "image" of Gov. Breathitt. To me Breathitt's image of brightness, youth and exuberance is a good one. It is one Kentucky needs.

But let's look at the Waterfield image. It is one of a weary, brooding, defeated, long-time politician who has been turned down twice by the people of Kentucky in his quest for the governorship.

Waterfield is mad at everybody. He doesn't like Breathitt. Let him look at his own record. What has he ever done for Kentucky? He hits at Breathitt's effort to help Kentucky's farmers but what is the Waterfield record? It is zero. He hits at the bond issue but what does he propose to bolster Kentucky's economy? Nothing!

Candidate Waterfield has opened his third campaign for the governorship as an expert Monday morning quarterback and dispenser of sour grapes.

Sincerely,

Highway Department's Position Same

Department of Highways

Frankfort, Ky.

February 4, 1965

Dear Sir:

In reply to your inquiry by telephone, the position of the Kentucky Department of Highways with respect to the Appalachian program which is before the Congress has not changed since last fall. Although the new legislation differs from that brought before the last Congress in some detail, the broad objectives are the same. In line with this, the Kentucky Highway Department still has $7 million earmarked in its budget for the current fiscal year, which ends June 30, 1965, for use in matching whatever federal funds become available for use in the Appalachian region under whatever legislation is passed by the Congress. It is expected that such a program would enable the Kentucky Department of Highways to speed the completion of the new Ky. 15 which has been under construction for the past few years between Campton and Whitesburg. Any Appalachian funds which become available for highways will be in addition to regular Federal Aid highway funds, which would continue to be spent in that area at a rate comparable to that of the past few years. The combination of the two programs should result, therefore, in completion of major new roads for Eastern Kentucky many years sooner than could have been expected without an Appalachian program. Any details of how much money will be spent, and on what projects, must await the passage of the legislation and the setting up of an orderly procedure for administering the program.

Suggestions For PCDA

To The Editor:

I notice that the Perry County Development Association is being reorganized.

It is time for the merchants of Perry County to make this organization a working organization. With a goal and a way to obtain that goal, namely the decrease of welfare recipients by giving them work and a way to earn money on their own.

To do this it is necessary for a fund to be available for that purpose.

This fact caused the collapse of the first organization.

It is time for people, especially miners, to realize that this is a different situation compared to the boom time of 1914.

Many plans have been offered for improving the situation but so far none have been offered that would relieve the situation.

You hear much of health, education and various things to relieve poverty.

Poverty is the lack of money to obtain the necessary things of life.

A man can be in bad health, but could write a check for $300 and it be good.

He could also be a high school graduate or a college graduate and still not earn a good living.

For several years I have advocated a plan which would relieve the situation and cause the miners to become wage earners again but the 85 miners who would work for $18.75 a day 6 days a week every week are not to be found in Perry.

As my plan cash money is it worth $25 to any merchant in Perry County to increase his business 500 per cent in two years? Is it worth $25.00 to be able to give employment to 400 miners at $18.75 a day, 6 days a week every week, not one or two days?

You may not get 85 to work for this amount but it is worth a try.

If your readers would like an explanation of the plan which can succeed as it has been tried and is successful in other places write me in care of the Hazard Herald.

It is time for our people to wake up and show the world we are down but not dead.

Yours truly,

Ernest Vermillion

Every American's Right

Mankind's quest for freedom becomes more ironic all the time. While Americans are dying, almost every day now, in South Viet Nam to help uphold that country's independence, 3,000 other Americans are being held in Alabama jails for trying to register to vote.

And as America's commitment to the freedom of South Viet Nam deepens, so does Alabama's intention to deprive Negroes the right to vote seem to become more defiant.

Let's make no mistake about what goes on in Alabama, and other Southern states. Negroes there are denied the voting privilege by a conspiracy every bit as sinister and totalitarian as in any Iron Curtain country.

The Southern System for excluding Negroes from participation in public affairs sometimes needs clubs, guns and electric cattle prods to make it work, but traditionally it has been much more subtle than that, and always very effective.

The System simply requires that you keep the Negro population uneducated, then make voting registration tests so difficult that only an educated man can pass them.

It is common knowledge, of course, that not all Southern white people are literate. Yet, they never seem to have much trouble passing registration tests. The vast majority of white people in the South are registered, but in Selma, Alabama, there are more Negroes in jails than have the basic American right to vote.

Southern Negroes aren't left out of all the processes of government, of course. They participate equally at tax time, and in the military draft. In fact, hundreds of America's 20,000 soldiers in South Viet Nam today are Southern Negroes, many of them pilots and crewmen of helicopters, so prone to be shot down.

The most common defense of the South's attitude toward Negro voting is that it is purely a local matter, and that interference by the rest of the country is a violation of "state's rights."

But the whole foundation of the American concept of government is that individuals have rights, not states. It is behind the Iron Curtain, in China and in Russia, that the state is more important than the individual.

It is just as wrong for an American state to deny an individual his human rights as it is for a Communist or Fascist state to do the same.

Our constitution guarantees American citizens the right to vote. Every time Alabama denies that right to a single man, then our Constitution and our flag is mocked. Every thing that America stands for is spat upon.

Americans who cherish the notion of individual liberty are not only justified in feeling outraged when one man's liberty is denied, they are obligated to feel it. And more than that: they are obligated to protest against it until the evil is corrected. A chain is only as strong as its weakest link, and our Southern states who restrict Negro voting are shamefully weak links. As long as every American's civil rights are not secure, then no one's is. And a man unwilling to fight for the rights of another does not deserve the rights he himself enjoys.

BOOK REVIEW

All books reviewed in this column are available at the Bobby Davis Memorial Library.

"Lieutenant's Lady" by Bess Streeter Aldrich

The scene is early Omaha and the forts along the Missouri River just after the Civil War. When Cynthia Colworth jilts Lt. Norman Stafford, he marries her cousin, Linnie, and the novel shows the growth of their love amidst the hardships of frontier life. A terrific journey down the river in flat boats, tests and develops their affection into great and enduring love, and when circumstances make it possible for Norman to leave for Cynthia, he realizes it is only Linnie that he loves.

"Canal Town" by Samuel H. Adams

Set against an authentic historical background, York State in the 1820's, the plot concerns the problems of a young physician combating ignorance and prejudice, with the pitifully small knowledge of the time. The wealth of medical lore and the folkways of the Upstaters make absorbing reading, while the romance with the daughter of the town's richest man provides the romantic background.

Mother Earth Conceals Age

"Geologists say they have found they were mistaken about the age of the earth; that it is 155,000,000 years older than formerly reckoned." —Science note. No doubt Mother Earth had been using feminine wiles and artifices in concealing that much of her age."

Bill Davis Among UK's Great Basketballers

By ARLIS FIELDS

With all the talk about the greatest team at the University of Kentucky let me introduce you to one of the greatest guards ever for Adolph Rupp.

There's frequent mention of Cliff Hagan, Frank Ramsey, Ralph Beard, Cotton Nash, Alex Groza and others but no one seems to remember a man by the name of Davis.

Bill Davis, co-owner of the Kenyon Auto Store played under Adolph Rupp during the 1932, '33, and '34 seasons.

Davis was on the first SEC championship team under Rupp as well as the first undefeated team under the Baron.

Kentucky won 15 straight during the 1933 season but lost to Florida in the old Southeastern Conference Tournament at Atlanta.

Davis recalls that the so-called big man in those days was from 6-3 to 6-5 as compared to 6-10, 6-11 and 7 footers of today.

"We jumped center after every basket back then," Davis points out, "and we averaged about 40-50 points a game as team," he continued.

He also recalls playing with the first all-American at the University Forrest "Aggie" Sale, now a sporting goods salesman in Harrodsburg.

Mr. Davis pointed out in an interview that Ohio State was a frequent non-conference opponent for the Wildcats.

Elmer Baldy Gilb coached Davis as a freshman at Kentucky and he rates Gilb a very good coach. Gilb formerly coached at Henry Clay High School in Lexington.

Davis and Sale were not the only top flight performers on those early Rupp bossed teams. Ellis Johnson, head cage coach at Marshall University in Huntington, W. Va., played a forward with Frenchy DeMoisey, a state official under former Gov. Happy Chandler. DeMoisey died last year of a sudden heart attack. Darrell Darby played the guard opposite Davis to complete the Rupp's first undefeated congregation.

"We had three substitutes in those days," recalled

Davis, "our substitutes were Dave Lawrence, a boy by the name of Tucker and a fellow named Krueger." Lynn Miller helped with the coaching," added the successful businessman.

Perhaps the greatest memories to Davis and his brother Roscoe are their playing days at Hazard High School in the late 1920's under Pat Payne.

Remember the great Carr Creek team of 1928 that lost to Ashland in four overtimes in the finals of the States Tournament at Lexington? The Davis brothers led Hazard to 12-11 win over Carr Creek in the District in 1928.

"Roscoe played center, Jim Draughn and Farmer Brashear played forwards and Shirl Napier and I played guards," were the words of Davis.

"Dr. Eli Boggs, Ed Adams and Claude Dill were the substitutes on the team when we beat Carr Creek," according to Roscoe.

"We played the regional tournament in Richmond in those days," commented Bill and "we beat Richmond High School in the first game of the regional that year," added Roscoe.

I asked the Davis's who beat them out in the regional that year, "Middlesboro beat us because they had a big boy that could get the tip each time we jumped after the basket," Roscoe answered. "Draughn turned an ankle and they fouled Roscoe out or we would have beaten them," Bill added.

There were others on that Hazard team of '28. Homer Eversole, Lester Baker, and Ching Webb were also under Pat Payne in that year.

A Louisville newspaper carried a poll a few weeks ago with the top 15 players ever at the University of Kentucky and Bill Davis was one of the top ones on the team that was made of such stars as Ralph Beard, Alex Groza, Johnny Cox, Cliff Hagan, Frank Ramsey and at least eight others whose names are not available at this time.

A team picture of the Hazard High school team of 1928 will appear in the sports section of the Herald within the next two weeks featuring Roscoe and Bill Davis.

Sandi Kidd Wins Betty Crocker Award

Sandi O. Kidd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O'Neal Kidd, Sun Valley Terrace, has been named Hazard High's 1965 Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow. She scored highest in a written homemaking examination taken by senior girls Dec. 1, and is now eligible for state and national honors.

Test papers of all school and advisors from each of the Homemakers of Tomorrow in the state are currently being judged. The state's highest ranking girl will receive a $1,500 scholarship from General Mills, Inc., sponsor of the annual Betty Crocker Search for the American Homemaker of Tomorrow, with the state runner-up to be awarded a $500 educational grant. In addition, the school of the State Homemaker of Tomorrow will receive a complete set of the Encyclopedia Britannica, Inc.

Later this spring, the State Homemaker of Tomorrow, together with a school advisor, will join first-place winners from 50 other states and the District of Columbia in a tour of Colonial Williamsburg, Va., Washington, D.C., and New York City. Climax of the week-long tour will be the naming of the Betty Crocker All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow. To be chosen on the basis of original test and score and personal observation and interviews during the tour she will receive an increase in her scholarship to $5,000. Second, third, and fourth place winners in the nation will have their grants raised to $4,000, $3,000 and $2,000, respectively.

No window post. No floor hump. No radiator. No power steering. No power brakes.

(Some of the things you don't get in a Corvair are among your best reasons for buying it.)

'65 Corvair Monza Sport Sedan

Corvair by Chevrolet

The beauty of it, of course, goes deeper than the things you don't get. There's the other side of the coin—what you do get in their place.

Take the no window post, for example. What you do get is hardtop styling—with curved frameless side windows—in every Corvair closed model.

The transmission and driveline hump you don't get means more foot room. Thanks to Corvair's rear engine, the floor is practically flat.

No radiator—the engine's air-cooled—also means no water, no antifreeze and no hose leaks to worry about. All of which add up to some more important pluses.

Power steering? Power brakes? Corvair needs them like a centipede needs crutches. With most of the engine weight on the rear wheels, the front ones are free to steer easily. And stops are quick and sure—with no nosediving.

Come on down to our showroom and discover the difference.

If you're going to enter something like the Pure Oil Performance Trials, you might as well do it to win.

So we did. Class IV—won by Buick Special.

Down at Daytona Beach, we gave everyone another look at Buick's "Win Policy". A V-8 Buick Special won over stiff competition (sorry, boys!) in Class IV—in the 1965 Pure Oil Performance Trials. The winning Special was equipped with our 300 cubic inch Wildcat 310 V-8 and Super Turbine Transmission.

Remember that the drivers in the Performance Trials are skilled professionals, and the cars finely tuned standard production models. (If it can be said that the Special is "Standard" anything.) Also remember that the trials are an exhausting, carefully graded test of a car's all-around ability. In economy, acceleration and braking. Small wonder the Special came out on top. Handsomely.

(The specific detail? Our hero averaged 20.689 mpg in economy, to score second among 10 cars. It accomplished the acceleration test—from 25 to 70 mph—in 9.315 seconds, for a fifth. And took another second in braking: from 65 to 0 mph in 172.0 feet. The cumulative result: we won all the marbles in Class IV.)

Now then. If you're going to enter something—like a car—you might as well do it to win, too. Your Buick dealer can introduce you to the driver's seat of a Buick Special.

SPORTS CORNER

By ARLIS FIELDS

The M. C. Napier basketball game with Hall High that was postponed on the 30th of last month due to bad weather will be made up as part of a double header in Memorial Gym next Wednesday night.

Dilce Combs will oppose Leatherwood in the first contest at 6:30 with Napier and Hall slated for 8 p. m.

After 14 years of successful firing there will be no Invitational Tournament held at Hazard next year according to school officials.

Breathitt County pulled out of the annual meet so it could stage its own invitational in the Breathitt Coliseum at Jackson.

Hazard officials say they will remain open for bids to the Ashland Invitational as well as the L.I.T.

According to the reports it would simply be too expensive to go out in the state and pull in top cage teams for the H.I.T. at least $300.00 would have to be guaranteed to each out of town participant.

The Breathitt meet will probably be held about the same time as was the Hazard affair. December 15th through the 18th are the likely dates for the first Invitational at Breathitt County.

This leaves Perry County with only one such tournament and that is the Perry County Invitational meet held in mid-November at Leatherwood.

Chester Rose, the 6.6 center for the Hazard Bulldogs is improving at a rapid rate.

In his last three outings the big junior has scored a total of 69 points.

Big Johnny Turner, 6.3 center for the Hindman Yellowjackets, has an act for drawing personal fouls when the ball comes to him.

In the Hazard game Tuesday night 5 personals were called on David Olinger, 4 on Chester Rose and 3 on Freddy Hogg as they tried to stop the talented junior.

Turner canned 14 freethrows for his night's work.

Morton Combs, the successful Carr Creek mentor, was overheard to say the other night that Fleming, Neen would cause a lot of trouble when tournament time rolls around.

Combs should be a noted authority on this subject as his Indians defeated Fleming, Neen 41.39 at Whitesburg Monday night.

"It's rough, I wouldn't be a coach," those were the words of the injured Tommy Kron as he watched the Kentucky Wildcats win their 5th straight 74-56 over Mississippi State Monday night.

Kron came up with a severe, sprained ankle after a Sunday practice session and according to reports will miss the Tuesday meeting with league leading Vanderbilt in Nashville.

Pat Riley led Kentucky Monday night with 20. Larry Conley, filling in for Kron, tallied 19. Terry Mobey, countered with 13. Louie Dampier came up with 12 and John Adams was the fifth starter in double figures with 10.

Bill Chumblor of Lowes, Ky., led the Maroons with 12. The Kentucky Freshmen won their 14th straight 122-66 over Southeastern Christian of Winchester.

Maytown's Bob Tallent led the winners with 85. Thad Jaraz tallied 22. Tommy Porter also had 22. Jim LeMaster had 18. Willie Nisbett and Gary Gamble tallied 10 each.

Four Thousand People Attend Kiwanis Golden Party In Detroit

Four thousand people, Kiwanians and their wives, attended a gigantic Kiwanis International Golden Anniversary party in Detroit's Cobo Hall, Thursday evening, January 21. Those in attendance represented every corner of the North American continent, and Western Europe as well.

Detroit, scene of the big celebration, is the birthplace of Kiwanis, which today numbers about 270,000 members in 5,300 clubs located in the four-tea countries of the free world.

Details of the Kiwanis International birthday celebration came today to George H. Pennington, President of the Hazard Kiwanis Club.

Principal speaker at the birthday party was Kiwanis International President Edward B. Morgan, Jr., of Miami, Florida. Also on the program was Michigan's Governor George Romney, who brought greetings from Kiwanis' natal state. Harry A. Young of Detroit, last living founder of the big international service organization was singled out for special honors.

Reg P. Merridew, President of the Detroit No. 1 Kiwanis Club, was presiding officer. His club and the Michigan Kiwanis District were the hosts.

Greetings to the Kiwanians assembled came from President Lyndon B. Johnson, who said:

"It is a pleasure to extend to Kiwanians everywhere my warmest congratulations and best wishes as you observe the Golden Anniversary of your organization.

"The enviable reputation which you have attained thru your many lasting contributions toward the welfare and progress of the communities you serve is the highest tribute which can be paid to your membership. In your individual and collective efforts toward a better America you have set an inspiring example for others to follow. You have realized the value and necessity of citizen initiative as well as cooperation with his local, state, and national government to aid the less fortunate in our land of plenty.

"I know that the past record of Kiwanis International will spur your membership to even greater achievements and that your second half century of service to our beloved nation will be as successful and productive as your first."

President Maylan said, in part:

"It is my fervent prayer that I have spoken my earnest convictions. I have kept faith with those valiant men of Detroit 1915 who, that half century ago, saw the light caught the vision, and picked up the torch. To you, to the memories of those men, I say this is not time to entrench ourselves behind the door of yesterday. This is the time to throw open the door of tomorrow, the door marked Opportunity."

Shower Honors Ellena Perkins; Coal Dust Irks Combs Residents

by H. C. Robertson

Julia Spencer of Combs received her B. S. Degree from Western State College at the close of the first semester of the present school year. She is a graduate of M. C. Napier High School and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Linvel Spencer, of Combs.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gabbard and family visited Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Kelly last week.

Stevie Sego, a member of the U. S. Armed Services, is visiting his mother, Mrs. Jesse Sego.

There will be a meeting of the Board of Stewards of the Combs Methodist Church at the close of the 7 p. m. service Sunday.

The coal dust at the Smith Coal Company at Combs is getting like it was in days of yore. We get to view the new, beautiful white fallen snow for only a short, short while, for it is soon black snow. What irks the citizens of Combs is the fact that the company has the equipment and chemicals to control the dust, but neglects to use it leaving us to breathe the polluted air and have our buildings, yards and cars covered with the black and grime of the falling dust day after day.

A household shower was given for Ellena Rhea Robertson Perkins at the home of Mrs. H. C. Robertson by Mrs. Elma Wray Robertson, Saturday, Feb. 6, at 7:30 p. m.

Games were played, refreshments were served and all had a good time of fellowship and fun. Mrs. Perkins received many nice and useful gifts.

Among those present and bringing gifts were: Mrs. Dewey Moore, Mrs. Henry Clay Robertson, Jr., Mrs. Eugene Johnson, Miss Ellen Campbell, Mrs. R. E. Cunningham and Betty Lou, Mrs. Leonard Turner, Mrs. Alonzo Nickell, Mrs. Don Fugate, Mrs. George Nickell and Maurine, Mrs. Newt Ellington, Mrs. Kenneth Hoskins, Mrs. Robert Feltner, Mrs. Tommy Kelly, Mrs. John Coda, Mrs. H. C. Robertson, Janice Feltner, Pauline Hoskins and Darla Johnson.

Those not present but sending gifts were: Mrs. Elma Couch, Mrs. George Luttrell, Shirley Robertson, Mrs. Alex Anderson, Mrs. Walter Campbell, Miss Oakley Combs, Mrs. Roy Fortney, Mrs. Carl Kelly, Mrs. Sue Legan, Mrs. Sherman Coda, Mrs. Floyd Smith, Mrs. Jimmy Smith and Mrs. Clyde Smith.

Shirley Robertson, a teacher at the Alice Waller School in Jefferson County, was in Hazard and Combs on business over the weekend.

Writer Has X-Ray Made of Stomach While In Hospital

by W. R. Williston

Attendance at the Christian Church and Sunday School Sunday was 33; the offering was $11.35.

Our dinner guests Sunday were Jane and Judy Combs of Wabaco.

Well, your correspondent was in the Hazard Appalachian Hospital from January 25 until February 3 having x-rays made for an ulcerated stomach, but I am feeling fine compared to when I entered the hospital. I would like to thank Dr. Carter and the hospital staff for what they did for me while I was there.

While I was hospitalized I got a get well card from my brothers at the Masonic Lodge at Krypton. It makes you feel good to know that someone cares for you. Also, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Nolan sent me a nice card and those good words sounded so good when they come from your friends when you are in trouble or sick. I hope they know how much it meant to me and I sure thank each and everyone for all they have done for me.

I also had a get well card from my youngest daughter in Cincinnati, Nell Pinnix, and my other two daughters, Ann Cardler and Janice Combs, visited me while I was in the hospital.

TRUE THEN And TRUE NOW!

Ten Things You Cannot Do:

1. You cannot bring about prosperity by discouraging thrift.
2. You cannot strengthen the weak by weakening the strong.
3. You cannot help the wage earner by pulling down the wage payer.
4. You cannot help the strong men by tearing down big men.
5. You cannot further the brotherhood of man by encouraging class hatred.
6. You cannot help the poor by destroying the rich.
7. You cannot establish sound security on borrowed money.
8. You cannot keep out of trouble by spending more than you earn.
9. You cannot build character and courage by taking away man's initiative and independence.
10. You cannot help men permanently by doing for them what they could and should do for themselves.

MIKE CLARK

In announcing my candidacy for Magistrate, 4th District, Perry County, I take it that the responsible good citizens of Perry County would like to inform themselves of the qualifications of the various candidates.

I was reared in Perry County and attended the public schools here. My father was Bevely Clark and my mother was the former Susan Oliver, who also was born and reared in Perry County. After my schooling here I entered the armed services of my country and was in the fighting in World War Two in France and Germany. After twenty-two years in the armed services I retired from the Army and came home to my dear beloved, Perry County. For the last six years I have been working at the La Citadelle.

If elected I will do the following:

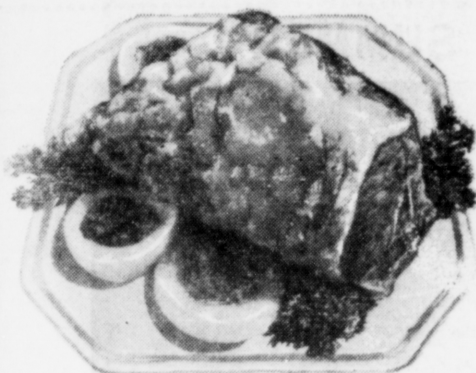

1. To be honest, true and faithful to my office and to the people of my district.
2. To repair the road and bridges and to extend the county road system in my district.
3. To protect the citizens of my district in their person and in their enjoyment of their property.
4. To be firm with the juvenile offenders, setting them an example and always sympathetic.
5. To maintain an office and be in it and listen to your problems and help solve them.
6. To maintain the fiscal responsibility of the county and its credit. All funds coming from the federal government will be frugally and wisely spent. I would like to pave with asphalt all the county roads in my district with these funds and will use all my influence and efforts to do so.

I earnestly seek your support and help. I need every one and I believe that if you trust this office to me you will find that I have not sought it for personal aggrandizement, but just for the honor and joy of serving you in an honest, efficient manner.

—MIKE CLARK

His '65 Ford rides quieter....than his Rolls-Royce

Tests proved it.* Does this mean Ford now rivals one of the world's most wanted luxury cars? Hardly! But these tests do mean plenty—to you—if you're shopping for a popular-priced car. They prove Ford has outstanding strength, design, quality. Compare Ford, in every way, with everything in its class...

Feel Ford's solid quality

- 100% new body—strongest ever on a Ford.
- New frame "tunes out" vibration.
- New suspension puts a big ultrasoft coil spring at each wheel.

Inspect Ford's luxurious new LTD models

- Decorator interiors, thick nylon carpeting.
- Walnutlike vinyl inserts on doors and instrument panel.
- Rear-seat center arm rests, five ash trays (4-door hardtops), padded instrument panel, and more.

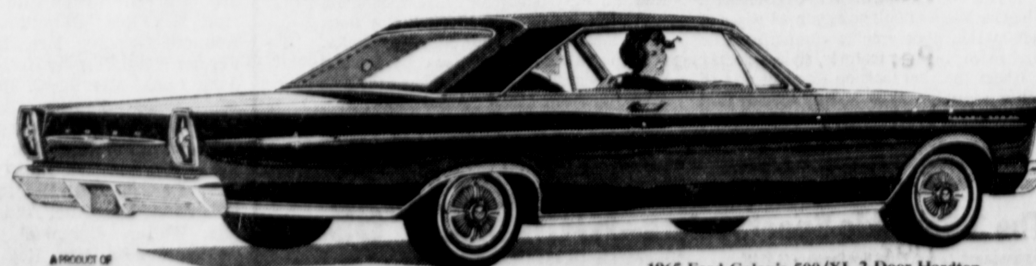

Relax in Ford's spacious interiors

- Swept-back instrument panel, lower transmission hump.

- Trunk holds four 2-suiters standing upright, and more.
- Test Ford's new power
- Big, new 289-cu. in. V-8 standard in XL's and LTD's.
- New Big Six—biggest Six in any car. Test-drive a '65 Ford!

*Leading acoustical consultants conducted tests in which 1965 Fords (Galaxie 500 Sedan, XL and LTD Hardtops) with 289-cu. in. V-8 engines and automatic transmissions rode quieter than a new Rolls-Royce. These tests were certified by the U.S. Auto Club.

Slushers Visit In Straight Creek

by Mrs. Amanda Slusher
Last weekend Matt G. Slusher and his four-year old daughter, Mary Katherine, of Straight Creek went to visit his parents and Mary Katherine's grandparents Mr. and Mrs. George M. Slusher of Beverly, Kentucky.

Red Bird High School plans to make a parking lot on the campus as soon as friends are available. The parking lot is needed badly and will be a great help to the students as well as the community.

The Red Bird Gardeners say the Ground Hogs really saw their shadows February 2nd. This story harmonizes with tradition's story that says if the fuzzy character sees his shadow he will go back to hibernation for six more weeks of bad weather.

Letcher County News

The Fleming, Neon Pirates Basketball Team defeated the Whitesburg Yellowjackets at Whitesburg last Friday evening 65 for the Pirates and 37 for the Yellowjackets.

Charlie Higgins, one of our pioneer coal miners of Haymond, has had to go back to the Whitesburg Memorial Hospital. We hope Charlie recovers speedily. Charlie is a very fine man.

It seems that the Ground Hog has been playing havoc with the weather so much that nobody is getting married or engaged, and the big lot of people that are just sick, are just staying that way, and the Ground Hog is threatening to come back again the Fourteenth and Twentieth.

RADIO MEDITATION
Sitting in front of my Radio Listening to music that thrills Music that travels o'er Valleys, mountains and hills.

I sit listening hour on hour Awaiting for I know not what And in the end disappointed Hoping for something I never got

It is strange how still I linger

Listening for something oh, so sweet

Listening for a whisper From along the Golden Street.

Something makes me tarry With the sandman till eleven Hoping for a whisper from away Over in GOD'S Heaven.

"Religion is the opiate of the people!"

That's what Karl Marx declared. And sometimes it seems that he may have been right. So many people, considering themselves "religious," use their worship as a tranquilizer—a pill taken once a week to remove "the pain of it all." Instead of looking for involvement with the great moral and spiritual issues of society, they look for ways to avoid involvement. They forget the first tenet of their Faith: Love thy neighbor.

That doesn't mean just the people down the block. It means being concerned with the poverty of Appalachia . . . or the problems of a Negro trying to get equal job opportunity . . . or the special difficulties of the elderly—and the young.

If you care, the place where you worship can become—with your help—a rallying point for action in solving the community, national and world problems where great issues are involved. Worship this week. More important, put your faith to work.

Why We Are Sure of EVERLASTING LIFE

Of all the questions that confront a human being none is so important...none so perplexing...as: What happens after death?

A few will contend that there is no life hereafter...that man ends his days in a blank nothingness like animals. But for most people, there is a natural and instinctive hope that life on earth is only the first step toward a more joyous eternal life to come. This instinctive hope, however, carries with it no conclusive proof that there is a life hereafter, and no obvious "blueprint" showing how to attain it. Because of this, many are bewildered—uncertain of the earthly way of life that will determine their eternal destiny.

Catholics, of course, do not claim that they alone are capable of having a greater knowledge of eternity than is available to anyone else. But where some may be confused and uncertain, the Catholic finds certainty in his Church for that time when "the night cometh that no man can work."

You may hear it said that this is only a blind and superstitious faith...that Catholics are merely "whistling in the dark"...that the Catholic Church doesn't know any more about God's plan for our destiny than does anyone else.

On the contrary, Catholics believe that the way of life prescribed by Jesus Christ is God's
